

Hi Dale,

During a telephonic discussion with the Office of the Regional Land Claims Commissioner: Limpopo, following receipt of their response letter, we were advised not to engage directly with the claimants at this stage.

The Department's primary concern is that such engagement could create an expectation that the claim will be finalized soon and in the claimants' favour. They emphasized that the process is extensive and can often take several years to conclude. To avoid misunderstandings and potential disputes if the claim is not successful, the Department recommended that we refrain from direct engagement with the claimants for now.

Should you require further details or clarification on this recommendation, please let me know.

Kind regards,

Megan Dennis
